HOPKINSVILLE, CHRISTIAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1917

VOLUME XXVI, NO. 25

THE MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL

(From Thursday's Daily)

Tonight Hopkinsville's first music festival, far and away the largest and most meritorious event of the kind ever given in this region, will come to an end with Frederick Nell Innes' own production of "Americana."

A glance at the program is all that is necessary to gain a conception of the magnitude of this occasion. Besides the Innes band and soloists and both adult and children's choruses, there will be a military exhibition participated in by the state guard, college cadets, the Confederate U. C. V. camp, the Federal G. A. R. post, the Tennessee regimental drum and fife corps and Lebkuocher's band.

A feature of special interest will be Senator Carmack's patriotic address "Looking Backward," which will be delivered just prior to the rendition of "Americana."

An immense audience should be, and doubtless will be, on hand tonight, and people are arriving in the city on every train to attend the performance. Yesterday afternoon the children's matinee was given. Hundreds of little folks and young people, dressed in white, crowded the great choir loft and overflowed into the galleries, and their fresh, sweet voices filled the tabernacle with a glorious flood of melody. It was an inspiring sight to look at the eager, happy faces and the singing thrilled every hearer with delight. Mr. Mayo's work in training the children's chorus, as well as the adults, has been nothing short of remarkable. Mr. Innes said yesterday that he had never heard, in all the hundreds of cities he had visited, a finer juvenile choir. The band was at its best and the splendid program was particularly adapted to the occasion.

Of unusual charm and sweetness were the solos of M. Zoe Pearle Park. She sang "Nobil Signori" of Meyerbeer's and was compelled by a storm of applause to respond to an encore, this being "My Rosary." She has a wonderfully sweet, pure contralto, a golden voice, and in her singing she was admirable in every phase.

Victor Herbert's national fantasy "America," which concluded the program, introduced the children in southern melodies and national airs. The finale was the "The Star Spangled Banner" during which the children waved flags as they sang the stirring music at the top of their voices and the audience was moved to genuine enthusiasm.

Last night was a Wagnerfest. The program was a magnificent one, and the music of the great composer, under the perfect leadership of Mr. Innes, was given a thoroughly artistic faultless interpretation. Mr. Innes is not only a finished musician, but one of the greatest living band impresarios, and he has trained his musicians, many of whom are highly accomplished artists, with marvelous skill. There were many people present last night who did not know they cared for Wagner's music until they heard Innes play it, and even those whose musical taste had not been given any cultivation could not fail to appreciate that they were listening to something very much out of the ordinary.

To Wagner lovers it was a treat of superlative charm, and it is difficult to imagine wherein there could be any improvement in Mr. Innes' manner of presenting these masterpieces. Parsifal was heard with especial interest and pleasure, and the singing of the chorus in this number was delightful beyond expression. The chorus, indeed, shone resplendent in the program. Under the inspiring leadership of Mr. Mayo, who was given an ovation when he appeared on the platform, the ladies chorus sang Handel's "Largo," and their voices blended in sweetest harmony. An encore was demanded with such insistence that, at Mr. Innes' request, the "Soldiers' Chorus from Faust," one of the hits of the previous night was repeated. Mr. Innes was so carried away with the rendition that he threw the whole chorus a large-sized kiss and sotto voce, begged them to accompany him on his tour of America to give his encores. All of the band, soloists and chorus appeared in "Lohengrin" and it was a brilliant concluding number. The voices of Miss Listemann, Mrs. Park and Messrs. Carr and Shaw were heard with fine effect.

Tonight the program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Dickerson's Death.

Mrs. John R. Dickerson, aged 60, died this week at her home in the Bennettsville vicinity. Grip was the cause of death. A husband and two daughters survive her. She was a devout Christian and a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. The remains were interred in the family burying grounds.

M'COWN'S PLANT BED DESTROYED.

PRESIDENT OF CHRISTIAN COUNTY UNION, A. S. O. F.

LEFT A NOTE OF WARNING.

Bloodhounds Were Sent For But Could Not Be Secured.—Two Men Did the Work.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

The tobacco plant bed of F. B. McCown, who lives near Kirkmansville but in this county, was almost entirely destroyed last night by unknown parties. From the tracks which were left it is thought that there were only two men implicated as there were signs of only one horse and one mule, both of which had been hitched about a hundred and fifty yards from the plant bed.

As soon as he discovered the deed, Mr. McCown telephoned here to the police and requested that bloodhounds be sent out but his request could not be granted.

The motive which actuated the plant bed destroyers is a mystery.

Besides being one of the most highly respected citizens and prominent farmers of his community, Mr. McCown is an energetic organizer for the American Society of Equity, the national farmers association, and has held several meetings here for the purpose of organizing this county for that body. It is also reported that a warning note was left by the night riders but the text of this could not be learned.

Medical Society.

The Christian county Medical society held an interesting meeting Monday at the courthouse. Dr. J. Y. Welborn, of Evansville, addressed the physicians on the subject of "Diphtheria," and Dr. Erkiletian spoke on "Ratent Medicines." The addresses were excellent ones. The meeting was largely attended.

JUDGE HARGIS NOT GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict in Famous Murder Case.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 25.—After deliberating one hour this morning the jury in the case of the commonwealth vs. Judge James Hargis, charged with complicity in the murder of James Cockrill in Jackson in 1902, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Policeman Marcus Merritt and "Old George" the horse which the police ride whenever occasion demands, are not as friendly as they have been. A few days ago Officer Merritt had been riding Old George for some time and the horse was tired and hot. He rode him into the river so as to bathe the animal's legs but this was not sufficient to suit the horse so he laid down in the stream. The officer had to wade out, and then after he had completed his bath, Old George went out on the opposite side of the river and began calmly nibble the luxuriant grass.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, with many annoying symptoms. In this climate there are few who do not suffer from this disagreeable disease, often in a chronic and dangerous state.

The one scientific and common-sense treatment is Hyomel, a combination of healing and germ-killing balsams which is breathed through a special inhaler that comes with every outfit.

A complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00, and L. L. Elgin gives his personal guarantee with every package that money will be refunded unless the treatment cures.

DRAFT WAS ILLEGAL

FAVORABLE RULING ON THE SUBSTITUTE BILL.

Court of Claims Makes an Interesting Decision—Some Hopkinsville Citizens Will Be Benefitted.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Upward of 2,000 men illegally drafted in Kentucky in 1864 have a chance to obtain from the government the $300 they put up for the sending of a substitute to the Union army. During the last session of congress a bill introduced by Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, directed the Secretary of the Treasury to investigate the claims of these men, whose names appear upon the official descriptive lists on file in the War Department.

Several days ago the Assistant Attorney General made a motion before the Court of Claims to dismiss all these cases. Capt. C. C. Calhoun, of Lexington, who appeared for the claimants, argued against it, and the court made a ruling favorable to his contention that the court has jurisdiction on cases where there is a record in the War Department.
It has been proved that the State had already drafted its quota and that the '64 draft was therefore illegal. The cases are expected to be taken up by the court at an early date and certified to Congress for payment.

KENTUCKY IS FIRST

IN LINE AT THE JAMESTOWN EX-POSITION.

J. B. Walker, of Hopkinsville, is putting the finishing touches to the Kentucky exhibit in the States' Exhibit palace. Here the Blue Grass state is making an imposing display of its forestry and agricultural products, and Mr. Walker has been warmly complimented by the exposition authorities and others for the promising aspect of the exhibit. Delay in the installation has been caused by tardy freight and express shipments, several important packages having been lost in transportation. Each day brings some new arrival of freight, and by the end of the present week it is hoped the entire exhibit will be in first-class shape.

NORFOLK, Va., May 17.—Kentucky bears the distinction of being the first state to announce the complete installation of its exhibit in the mines and metallurgy building at Jamestown exposition. Although the Bluegrass state collections of minerals, clays, coals and oils arrived scarcely more than ten days ago, the Kentucky commission authorities formally announce to James Hyde Pratt, chief of the mines building, the completion of the display.

Have Scalp and Hair Troubles.

ALL GIVE THANKS TO CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My wife had eczema for five or six years. It was on her face and would come and go. We had read so much about Cuticura Remedies that we thought we would give them a trial.
We did so, and it has now been about four years, and she has never had a sign of eczema since. She also used them both about a year ago for her scalp.
She had very thin hair and Cuticura helped her hair greatly. I myself used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment some time ago for falling hair. I now have a very heavy head of hair and it does not fall out. We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment. It would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else. We give thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. Mr. H. B.

HANDSOME TRIBUTE

IS PAID TO NOBLE HOPKINSVILLE WOMAN.

Mrs. Mary A. Morton Recipient of High Compliment.—Resolution Adopted by Mission Society.

The Woman's Home Mission Society, of the Louisville Conference,
M. E. Church, South, at its meeting here paid the following beautiful tribute to the life and character of one of Hopkinsville's noblest women by enrolling the name of Mrs.
Mary A. Morton as an honorary life member of the organization which she has served so long and faithfully:

MRS. MARY A. MORTON.

Perhaps there is no member of this body more beloved by those who have known the H. M. work through the years, than the one whom we have made our honorary vice president. We cannot bear to have her dear name off our lists. We cannot let go of her or put a veil between her and this work she has so faithfully served for thirteen years of her saintly life.

In 1894 she became the corresponding secretary of this conference, and during her service in that office, she contributed largely to the growth and advancement of the work. Her writing was always forceful and to the point.

One or two leaflets especially she wrote during that period on "The Model Corresponding Secretary" was so instructive that thousands of copies were sent all over the connection. It was republished several times and finally embodied in our little booklet called, "Helps," to remain a permanent benefaction.

From corresponding secretary she became the first vice president of the conference, and for the past few years she has served as second vice president. In her beautiful, gentle, faithful, yet earnest and persevering manner she has moved onward with the work giving her time and strength in every direction toward its upbuilding, where it was possible. Instead of waiting until after the Master's voice has pronounced the wonderful words, "Well Done," to her, we want a cadence of voices to be heard by her on this side with that sweetest of all refrains: "Well done good and faithful servant, thou shalt live forever in the hearts of conference Home Mission Society."

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were adopted:
Inasmuch, As God in His goodness and love, has given us the privilege of again meeting in annual conference. Therefore be it resolved,

1. That we thank Him for the prosperity of the past year.
2. That we express our sincere appreciation to Bishop Candler for the able and eloquent sermon on Sunday morning.
3. That we are grateful to Bro. A.
P. Lyon and Dr. John Lewis for their presence and encouragement during this meeting.
4. That we express thanks to the choirs and the individuals who rendered such sweet music.
5. To the reception committee and the kind hostesses of Hopkinsville, we wish to express our thanks for the hospitable entertainment while here.

6. To the children who composed the Florine McEachern Brigade, for the inspiration which they gave us.
7. To the I. C. railroad officials for courtesies and kindnesses shown the delegates to and from this meeting.

8. To our good president, Mrs. T.
R. Kendall, we express our sincere thanks and appreciation for this ost excellent program, and for her unfiring efforts in making this the best meeting in the history of this conference organization.

9. Mrs. A. A. Norris, who has served this body so faithfully and efficiently for thirteen years, and to Misses Lewis and Sievers for their faithful and excellent work as secretaries we give grateful recognition for services rendered.

10. Upon any and all who have in any way contributed to the pleasure and success of this meeting, we pray God's richest blessings to fall upon all sessions of this conference.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. ALEX J. PETTERSEN
Chairman Committee.

COAL OIL WAS USED

TO START FIRE WHICH BURNED
BARN

CADIZ, Ky., May 17.—Forcing a negro living nearby to accompany them with his can of coal oil, night riders burned the barn of George R.
Wallis, living three miles west of here. There was consumed, along with it, about $250 worth of tobacco, two wagons, one buggy and most of his farming implements.

Wallis had just joined the association, but stated that he was not going to raise any tobacco this year.
He was about to sell his 1906 crop outside the pool, under the agreement made several months ago between the association here and the independent organization.

The Cadiz Record says:
"The negro, so we understand, says there were about two hundred in the crowd, but Mr. Vinson, who heard them coming and got up and watched them pass, says there were about twenty-five. About fifteen of them passed through the toll gate coming this way, so Mr. Jefferson says, about two o'clock, nearly all of them riding large black mules."

"Mr. Wallis had two loads of tobacco on the wagons ready to start to Hopkinsville with them the next morning."

GOES TO ARIZONA

To Defend Prof. T. G. Roach On a Murder Charge.

The Cadiz Record says:
Hon. Denny P. Smith left Monday for Prescott, Arizona, to defend his old school-mate, Prof. T. G.
Roach, who is charged with murder.
It was only on the most urgent appeal that he consented to go, as it would necessitate leaving his court here, but having arranged with Maj. Garnett to assist the county attorney in all matters pertaining to the commonwealth's interest, he felt that his absence would not effect the public interest. And it was only the urgent appeal of an old friend and the fact that Maj. Gar-nett's service could be had that he consented to leave.

In some manner she fell, and in fall-producing a very painful bruise and straining of the muscles. While it is yet too early to say definitely, it is not thought that she sustained any internal injuries.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

STAMPS WILL NOT BE NEEDED
IN SHORT TIME.

After July 1 it will only be necessary to place ten cents' worth of postage on envelopes.

That the postoffice department is making every effort to insure promptness in the delivery of the mails, and at the same time adopt every means possible for the convenience of the public, is again evidenced in the order issued by Postmaster General Meyer today, pursuant to an act passed at the last session of congress, to the effect that after July 1 no special delivery stamps will be necessary on letters to insure their immediate delivery. After the order becomes effective it will be necessary only to put ten cents' worth of stamps on any denomination in addition to the regular postage on a letter, with the words "Special Delivery" written on the envelope, to guarantee its prompt delivery.

The order will be especially gratifying in smaller cities, where the postoffice is closed early in the evening, and where it is impossible to secure a special delivery stamp except at the post-office. Even in the larger cities persons are often desirous of sending a special delivery letter and are compelled to walk to the nearest substation or some drug store to purchase a stamp. Under the new law, if sufficient stamps are kept on hand, a special delivery letter can be dropped in the nearest mail box and will be handled as quickly as though it bore the regulation stamp.

FAIRVIEW NOTES

Items of Interest Clipped From The Review.

Last Saturday night, a short time after Mr. Thomas Everett closed his grocery and started home, his attention was attracted by a noise like some one breaking glass out of a window. He returned to his grocery, and when a short distance away some one ran out from the recess of his door. He called to them to stop, but they paid no attention to him, he then fired three shots at them as they ran off. An examination of his front window showed that the party had broken it, it is supposed for the purpose of burglarizing the store. Had it not been for his timely arrival Mr. Everett would no doubt have been several dollars poorer the next morning. There is no clue as to who the party was who made the attempt to rob the house.

The wheat crop in this section has greatly improved since the late heavy frost, which it was thought by the "oldest inhabitant" had ruined it completely. The prospect for a first-class crop was never finer than at this time even if wheat has passed the $1 mark.

Circuit court will convene in Hopkinsville next month when the long-talked of graded schools suit will be tried out.

The army worms have made their appearance in this section and are said to be playing havoc in the meadows.

There has been no plant bed scraping in this section. Most of the farmers belong to the association.

Tobacco plants are reported as very scarce in this section on account of having been destroyed by the fly.

For a cold or a cough take Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. It is BETTER than any other cough remedy because its laxative principle assures a healthy, copious action of the bowels and at the same time heals irritation of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes and allays inflammation of the mucous membrane. Contains Honey and Tar, pleasant to take. Children like it. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

CYNTHIANA "WET."

CYNTHIANA, Ky., May 18.—The "wets" won in the election held in this city yesterday by the narrow margin of thirty-four votes, receiving 492 votes in four wards to 458 for the "drys."

"Here's to your health and happiness"—DeWitt's Little Early Risers—famous little pills. Nasty, sick headache or biliousness may come on any time; the cure is a Early Riser. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

(From Monday's Daily)
J. D. Ware died Sunday morning at his residence on South Virginia street. He had been ill, but his death was unexpected. Mr. Ware was about sixty years of age and for many years was in the tobacco business in this city. He was a member of the city council from the Second ward. He is survived by four children, Misses Tony and Bettie Ware and Fairleigh and Wallace Ware. The funeral took place at 10:30 this morning from the late residence with scripture reading by the Rev. Harry D. Smith and a prayer by Rev. Dr. W. L. Nourse, and the remains were interred in Riverside cemetery with the rites of Evergreen lodge No. 38, Knights of Pythias, of which the deceased was a member.

FEDERAL PRISONERS

Tried Before Commissioner Yonts and Held Under Bond.

Since opening headquarters here U. S. Marshal T. J. Cundiff has arrested and presented before Commissioner L. Yonts, three prisoners charged with violations of the federal license law.

One of the prisoners was William Henry Field who is alleged to have sold whiskey without paying the special government tax. He was held over under $100 bond.

Bill Johnson and Dicie Johnson were charged with having sold manufactured tobacco on which the tax had not been paid. They were held over in the sum of $200 each. All three of the prisoners gave the bond and were released from custody.

A little Kodol taken occasionally, especially after eating, will relieve sour stomach, belching and heartburn. J. B. Jones, Newport, Tenn. writes: "I am sure three one dollar bottles of your Kodol positively cured me of dyspepsia, and I can recommend it as that was three years ago and I haven't been bothered since with it." Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

POULTRY RAISING

Dr. Hess' Poultry Panacea and Instant Louse Killer Counteracts the Poultryman's Trouble

It's Poultry that ranks about first among our country's industries. The yearly death rate from disease and lice is about one-half of the hatch. Dr. Hess' Poultry Panacea and Instant Louse Killer counteract the Poultryman's trouble.

While Panacea Prevents and Cures Gapes, Indigestion, Cholera, Croup and the Like.

It contains just enough tonic to make the young grow rapidly. Dr. Hess' Poultry Panacea also cause every organ to do its part, while the Instant Louse Killer keeps the outside of the Poultry at ease. Try it and be convinced.

It Kills Lice on Stock As Well!

Including Ticks on Sheep, Bugs on Cucumbers, Squash and Mellon Vines, Cabbage Worms and Slugs on Rose Bushes.

There are used daily in the United States about 75,000,000 eggs, the value of them and the poultry consumed per annum is $500,000,000. Do you get part of this?

We import millions of eggs annually. If it pays to produce and import from foreign countries with cost of importing will it not pay to produce them here? Feed Crushed Oyster Shells and supply the demand for eggs. There is money in it.

The most frequent cause of hens not laying is the absence of carbamate of lime in their food. Analysis of Crushed Shells shows that they are practically pure carbonate of lime and they supply, when fed to poultry, the most essential elements and will greatly aid in the formation of the egg.

WE WILL NOT CONCEDE WITHOUT MENTIONING
DR. HESS' STOCK FOOD

The spring stock tonic and laxative which the stock's system so urgently demands after a long period of dry feed. We are ready for your commands.

WIT AND HUMOR OF SOME NOTED MEN

NO. 3...."PRIVATE" JOHN ALLEN

conspicuous vocation of the law. The memory of his stories and humor still survives in the national capital, where few men have been more popular.

The story of the way Allen got his title of "Private" is still worth telling, though the incident happened over twenty years ago. It was when he first ran for congress. His opponent was a General Tucker, and the two campaigned together. The general at one meeting told the crowd how he had saved their town during the war and grew particularly eloquent in describing his sleeping in a tent the night before the battle.

Allen, who was not within a hundred miles of that battle, rejoined in his inimitable manner:

"Friends and Fellow Citizens—It's all true what General Tucker told you about his sleeping in his tent that night before the battle. I know all about it, for I was guarding that tent all night long in the sold and wet on picket. And now I just want to say to all of you who were generals in the war and slept at night in your guarded tents, like General Tucker, you vote for him. But all you fellows that guarded the generals' tents in the wet and cold, like me, you vote for Private Allen."

That speech gained Allen his sobriquet and his election at one and the same time.

One of Mr. Allen's most famous speeches in congress was delivered in the summer of 1896, when Speaker Reed and Major McKinley were both candidates for the Republican presidential nomination and as a consequence were saying little on public questions.

Allen began by stating that there had been considerable comment in the newspapers respecting the somewhat unusual silence which had characterized him in this session. "But, Mr. Speaker," he continued, "there has been little in this session of congress to inspire a Christian man to be loquacious. I am not the only one who has been silent in these days. There are many of us leaders who are not talking much lately."

Mr. Allen said the Republicans were evidently going to select for their candidate a man who had the qualities for which the colonel of a cavalry regiment selected animals for his troops. "He must turn quick and go fast."

On a later occasion Allen had difficulty in securing recognition. When he finally got the floor, he said in a deeply injured tone:

"There is an evident disposition on the part of somebody to suppress my impassioned oratory. I wish to assure the speaker and the house that it is not my purpose, and I have no desire by my fervid and persuasive eloquence to overpersuade this house into the adoption of any unconstitutional or hurtful measure. Sir, I would scorn to take any such advantage of the weakness of the house."

One of the most amusing speeches "Private" Allen ever made in the house was in support of the bill to tax oleomargarine. Representative Tillman of South Carolina, brother of Senator Ben Tillman, had claimed that oleo is superior to many brands of butter and that it was an injustice to the poor man to prevent his buying it. In reply Allen told a story of an old negro who had eaten a box of axle grease, thinking it cheese. Upon being asked how he liked it the old man replied: "Fo' God, boss, dat was de ransomest cheese I eber has eat yet."

"Now, Mr. Chairman," commented Allen, "I have no doubt that if a proposition were pending here to prevent the sale of axle grease for cheese the gentleman from South Carolina would deliver us a scientific lecture and try to persuade us it was much better and more wholesome than cheese and that it would be a great outrage on the laboring man to suppress the fraud."

At a banquet given by a millionaire senator one evening Allen hesitated as he was entering the magnificent dining room and then remarked to his partner:

"My dear young lady, let us pause a moment or two. I doubt if I can restrain my feelings."

There seemed to be trouble on his face, and the lady said:

"Why, Mr. Allen, what is the matter with you?"

"I am sad," was his reply.

"For what reason?"

"Oh, it makes me sad to look at this room. It reminds me so much of my own dining room at Tupelo."

Those who knew poor Allen's financial circumstances could appreciate the point of his joke.

When showing one of his Mississippi constituents about the house, the delighted countryman asked:

"Who is the leader of this house?"

"Oh," said Allen modestly, "you will find out when they call the roll. The first man on the list is the leader of the house. They are just now getting ready for a call."

The Mississippi pricked up his ears and listened. A moment later the clerk bawled out at the head of the list:

"John M. Allen!"

All For Nothing.

[Original.]
John Thompson was twenty-one and old for his age. The only thing youthful about him was his love for Anita Merriweather, who was but seventeen and young for that tender age. Anita's parents had reluctantly consented to an engagement, fearing that their daughter might change her mind before reaching a marriageable age or later on find herself tied to a man whom she would not choose at maturity. But Anita regarded herself already as at a marriageable age and saw no possibility of ever changing her mind.

"John," she said one day, "I wish you had more spirit."
"What do you mean, sweetheart?" asked John, surprised.
"I think you submit very tamely to all those requirements and conditions laid down for us by papa's mamma."

"I don't know of but one—the waiting till you are nineteen."

"Isn't that enough? But I suppose it doesn't seem very long to you."

"I don't permit myself to think of it. I try to keep my mind on my daily work. This will the better enable me to take care of you when I get you."

"What a humdrum sort of fellow you are! I like a man who resents having others stand in the way of his desires, especially in love."

There was a good deal more of this. Anita, though not much beyond childhood, had a woman's natural aptitude for carrying her point, and she succeeded in doing so with John. That point was to gain his consent to marriage with or without her parents' permission.

"Very well," he said after discovering that a willful woman must have her own way. "What do you propose?"

"I suppose we'll have to run away."

"I don't think we'll have to run very fast."

"Indeed we shall. If papa should get wind of our going, he would follow us furiously."

"I doubt it. He has no objection to me. He only wishes us to wait till you are sure of your own mind."

The upshot of it all was that a few days later John stopped at the door of the Merriweathers' with his automobile. Anita got in, and they rolled away. They had taken many an afternoon ride together, and there was neither occasion to ask permission nor to put on any considerable power. Anita's mood, however, was not in keeping with their quiet conditions. She either clutched John's arm as though for protection or drew away from him as though he was dragging her into it. John, when he had got beyond the town limits, put on a fair speed. For the first time since the elopement, if it could be called such, had been mentioned Anita's thoughts appeared to be turned from her own desires to whatever of pain she might be inflicting upon her parents.

"I wonder how mother will take it," she said.

"Don't know," was John's laconic reply.

"I've always been papa's special pet. It's hard to do anything to hurt him."

"I suppose he'll have to stand it."

"You're very unfeeling."

"Unfeeling, sweetheart! It isn't that. We must face boldly the conditions we take upon ourselves."

There was a pause, after which she began again:

"Mother's health hasn't been of the best for the past few months. I hope it won't break her down."

John made no comment on this. They were jogging along steadily. She was so absorbed with her thoughts that she paid no attention to the route they were taking.

"I don't know," she went on, "what I'm going to do without papa's kiss every night and morning."

"I'll give you two," said John, "instead of one."

"I'm!"

They were approaching a house. John guided the automobile in to the sidewalk and stopped.

"What's this?" exclaimed the would-be bride in terror.

"Clergyman."

"That horrid Mr. Parker? I don't want to be married by him. Go on, quick!"

John dashed on. Anita leaned back on the leather cushion and as a protection against wind and dust drew a veil over her face. The machine chugged, the sun shone down softly, the birds were singing in the trees beside the road. John heard a sob. Then Anita took out her pocket handkerchief, managed to get it under her veil and covered her eyes with it. If John had been driving a horse instead of an automobile he would have put an arm about her to comfort her, but his machine needed both hands. Anita maintained her position. She kept her handkerchief over her eyes and occasionally gave an audible sob. John maintained silence. Being old for his age, he knew that anything he could say would be of no avail and would increase the trouble. He was a man of words rather than words. But he could not help thinking that it was not a cheerful wedding party.

Time and the automobile rolled on. Presently the latter came to a stop.

"We're there," said John.

Anita did not move.

"Will you get out?" he asked.

Anita shuddered, took her handkerchief from her eyes and looked about her. She was at her own front door.

Without a word she stepped down on to the sidewalk and, not deigning to notice her lover, went into the house. The elopement was over, and no evil consequences.

Captains Stites and Campbell, of The Elks and Odd Fellows Teams, Exchange Interesting Letters.

The following correspondence is self-explanatory:

Hon. G. L. Campbell,
Capt. Elks Base Ball Club,
Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

In the springtime a young man's fancy gently turns to thoughts of love and a young lady naturally turns toward the setting sun with hope, expectation and queenly mien, and tis dear sir, forsooth, amid such scenes as this that our order representing friendship, love and truth, arises wrapped in its mantle of charity, and turns with pride to its baseball record. In our charity we pity your glass arm, and delegate you among that class, not, "a has been," but simply, sir, "a never was," but on account of the fact that you represent as captain a mighty and an honorable order, it behooves us to present to you this challenge, for indeed we are on the warpath and long once more to place our reputation upon the campus, and look once more with pride for the welcome shouts of victory that shall arise from the hosts that believe in our might.

So we beseech you to resurrect your band of base ball players from that abyss of innocuous desuetude into which you have fallen since your complete defeat at our hands, and once more lead your band to conflict upon the baseball field, and we would suggest that the day appointed be Saturday May 25th, 1907, at the hour of 4 o'clock p. m.

My dear sir, I have the pleasure to remain, very respectfully,

Yours,
R. S. V. P. JOHN STITES,
Capt. Odd Fellows B. B. Club.

John Stites Esquire, Hopkinsville, Ky.
Gentle Sir—

With mingled emotions of pleasure, pity and scorn I have regarded the iniquistic jimmies of your presumptuous challenge; pleasure in your loyalty, even though it is to a lost cause, pity at your enfeebled judgment, and scorn for the "de-liberate and unequalled" (as Mr. Roosevelt would say) inaccuracy of your memory. But for that same noble principle of charity to which you so originally and tenderly allude, I should be constrained to suggest that you "git a repertashun" before seeking to wrest the laurels of victory from the alabaster brow of the Elks' baseball team. B. P. O. E. means, my dear sir, Best Ball Players on Earth. Your statement to the contrary notwithstanding, we have never tasted the bitter cup of defeat, and permit me courteously to add, we never shall so long as you and your ball team (?) are our opponents. I hereby accept your challenge and even concede to you the date you desire. You may have the choice of grounds, too, and also of innings. And let me say parenthetically, we anticipate about as strenuous a time in beating you again as in playing tiddledywinks with a mollycoddle.

With profoundest assurances of my most distinguished consideration, I beg, dear sir, to subscribe myself

Your faithful and obedient servant,
GABE L. CAMPBELL.

WETSTEIN IS LOST

AND A SEARCH IS MADE IN LOUISVILLE

Wrote That He Had Saved Money And Was On His Way To Trenton.

The Courier-Journal says:

"Three months ago Herman Wetstein, a plumber, left his home, Trenton, to come to Louisville.

Twice each week he wrote to his wife. About three weeks ago a letter from Wetstein to his wife said that he was coming home and that he had saved quite a neat sum of money during his stay in Louisville.

Since that time nothing has been heard from the missing husband and plumber, and yesterday Chief Gunther was asked to assist in locating him. No trace was found of the man yesterday."

Wetstein formerly made Hopkinsville his home.

HAD A BUSY WEEK

ACTIVITY IN ALL BRANCHES OF THE MARKET.

Crop Has Been Greatly Curtailed.—Report of Inspector.—Sales of the Association.

The past week was another very busy one on the local tobacco market. All branches of the market were rushed the entire week with the exception of the loose floors, and even these had very satisfactory offerings notwithstanding the lateness of the season. Prices ruled strong on all grades with not the least indication of falling, and all offerings were seized with avidity, the demand seeming to show some increase notwithstanding the advancing prices.

As has been the case up to this time only common and medium grades were offered. Some dealers are holding back their purchases on account of the upward tendency. Some authorities are predicting that there will not be more than 50 per cent, or 60 per cent, of the usual crop grown this year on account of the scarcity of plants due to destruction by bugs, freezes and night riders. Some farmers are not disposed to plant any tobacco at all this year.

On the general market the inspector's report showed: Receipts for the week, 280 hhds; receipts for the year, 3,455 hhds; sales for the week, 419 hhds; sales for the year, 878 hhds. Prices ruled here as follows: Lugs—low, 6.00 to 6.25; common 6.25 to 6.75; medium, 6.75 to 7.25; good, 7.25 to 7.75; fine 8.00 to 8.50. Leaf—low, 7.00 to 7.50; common, 7.75 to 9.00; medium, 9.00 to 10.50; good, 11.00 to 13.00; fine, 13.00 to 15.00.

Salesman Jarrett of the Planters Protective association, reports that for the season up to this time about 3,500 hhds., have been received, and that sales last week amounted to 300 hhds., nearly all of which was common to medium lugs and leaf. On all these sales prices ranged from 9.25 to 12.00. The demand for association tobacco is increasing every week and the prices secured are most satisfactory to the farmers.

On the loose floor the offering amounted to 30,000 to 40,000 pounds and prices showed much strength and reached high water mark for the season, and on most grades an advance of nearly 25 cents per hundred, ranging as follows: Lugs—low, 5.00 to 6.00; common, 6.00 to 6.75; medium, 6.75 to 7.50. Leaf—low, 7.50 to 8.75; medium, 8.75 to 9.75; good, 10.00 to 12.00.

From Day to Day

The many friends here of Jerry Tobin will be glad to learn of his increasing success in business. The Nashville Banner says:

Articles of incorporation have been filed in which the capital stock of Tobin, the tailor, was placed at $18,000. The incorporators are Thomas W. Meneses, James K. Polk, George W. Hopkins, Eugene Smith, Percy Tabler and J. N. Tobin. The reason given for the incorporation of this well-known and popular firm is the demand for modern price clothes for young men which compels an increase of business. Mr. Tobin has just returned from an Eastern trip.

The university of Sewanee, Tenn., received quite a notable addition to its student body when Ahmet Khaleel, son of his excellency Ahmet Khaleel Bey of Alexandria, in Egypt, matriculated and entered the medical department where he will finish his course in medicine.

Mr. Khaleel is a devout Mahometan, observing rigorously the five daily hours demanded by the prophet. He is the first of his religion to have come to the university. Mr. Khaleel has already made a number of friends among his fellow students.

Tracks In the Snow.

[Copyright, 1907, by G. D. Daniels.]
One morning in November while rabbit hunting near my father's farm I came on a man's tracks in the snow. The tracks had been made in the night and led to an old barn. It was plain that the party who had made them knew of the old barn and had it in mind when he left the highway.

I went into the barn. Presently I heard the snore of a sleeping man, and a minute later I found him covered up in the hay. His face was exposed, and I saw his sandy hair, and then I knew who it was. Six months previously our nearest neighbor on the west had enlisted and gone to the front in the civil war. He was not much thought of as a man, being considered shiftless and without ambition. It was the large bounty that had induced him to enlist. If the man had no standing in the community, his wife had. She was an energetic little woman, far too good for such a man, and was universally respected. She lived quite alone after his enlistment, and the full crop, such as it was, was gathered for her by the neighbors. They had also seen that she had a store of winter fuel. I uncovered the man without awakening him and found that he was sure enough Dan Scott. I was about to arouse him when it struck me as a curious thing that he should have come to the old barn instead of going to his own house. I covered him up again and left the place and a quarter of an hour later was knocking on his door.

"Well, John, what is it?" asked the cheery little woman as I entered.

"How long since you have heard from Mr. Scott?" I queried in reply, hardly knowing how to get around to my subject.

"Why, I showed your mother the last letter. That was three weeks ago."

"Did he say anything about coming home?"

"Goodness, no! He couldn't get a furlough as soon as this if I was dying! Have you heard any news? Has there been another battle? Has Dan been killed?"

Then I told her of my discovery. She turned pale and shut her lips and trembled a bit. Not a word did she reply until she had got on her things to go out. Then she said:

"Come, John. We are going to the barn."

Not a word was spoken between us on the way. We found the husband still asleep, and as she stood and surveyed him, she flushed with anger. Then she gave him a smart kick, and he opened his eyes and sat up.

"I've come home, Jennie," he said.

"Yes?"

"I was so homesick to see you that I just had to come. I believe I should have died if I hadn't come."

"Then you got a furlough?" she asked in a hard, metallic voice, her blue eyes looking right through him.

"A—A sort of a furlough—that is, a good many of the boys were coming home. You see, it's got so late that there won't be any more battles this fall, and there was no use hanging around the camp. I hope you ain't mad about it, Jennie."

"You came away without leave, did you?"

"There were others too."

"To come away without leave makes you a deserter. You will be hunted down and taken back. The papers will say you deserted. We shall be disgraced. Not a decent person for ten miles around will speak to us."

"Oh, come, now," protested Scott as he reached his feet and brushed away at the hay clinging to him. "You see, you don't understand. I was homesick and it was up to me to get to my home when there was no fighting to be done. It was midnight when I got along here, and so I didn't go to the house. Let's go now. I'm hungry for breakfast. Hello, John! Glad to see you. Come over tonight, and I'll tell you some war stories. Why don't you kiss me, Jennie, and tell me you are glad to see me?"

Mrs. Scott was a gentle little woman, but her face grew as hard as steel. I saw her bite her lips until they were stained with blood. The look she gave the man was so full of contempt and disgust that he fairly writhed under it. She held him for a long minute and then reached out and took the shotgun away from me. I had been leaning up against a beam and saying never a word. She looked to see if the gun was loaded and then turned to her husband with:

"There is no house for deserters to go to. There is not a family in the state that would give one of them a breakfast. You cannot sit under the same roof with me. You are going back to the army."

"But, Jennie—"

"You are going now."

"Say, now, but you can't mean it?"

She stepped back and brought the gun to her shoulder, and on my life I believe she would have shot him dead in his tracks if he had not moved. He must have believed so, too, for after a few seconds he turned away and took his trail to the highway. We both stood and watched him, and he never looked back. Five minutes after he was out of sight the woman handed me back the gun and quietly said:

"John, keep this a secret for my sake."

"I will," I answered. And this is the first time it has been told to others. Both husband and wife are dead now. He went back to the army and in some way escaped the disgrace and punishment, and when he finally returned for good it was as a lieutenant and with an honorable record. I knew them both for years after, but never once was the sore subject even hinted at. It came and passed like a dream.

HERMAN SOUTHALL

CHOICE OF CHRISTIAN COUNTY FOR COMMISSIONER.

Many reports current of combinations, but no one knows anything definitely.

(From Saturday's Daily)

Pursuant to call, a mass convention was held at the court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of instructing for a candidate for railroad commissioner. The convention to nominate a Democratic candidate will be held at Henderson next Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Secretary L. H. Davis, in the absence of Chairman James West, and Mr. Davis was, upon motion, elected chairman and M. E. Bacon secretary.

J. T. Hanbery offered a resolution commending Hon. Herman Southall for his past efficient service and pledging to him the thirteen votes of Christian county in the convention and instructing the committeemen from this county to do all in their power to honorably secure for him the nomination.

The reading of the resolutions was greeted with much enthusiasm and when the vote was called for they were unanimously adopted. Chairman Davis then read a list of seventy names who were requested to attend the convention, as are all good Democrats. The convention then adjourned.

NEW SUITS

Two interesting suits have been filed for the coming term of circuit court.

One of these is that in which C. G. Lemons prays for $5,000 damages from Dave Cranor, Euly or Bob Long and John West, of Crofton, on the grounds that they unlawfully arrested and fined him. The plaintiff alleges that Long and West arrested him in Crofton without a warrant or adequate cause and through spite and maliciousness, and locked him up. After about two hours he says he was brought before Mr. Cranor, who claimed to be acting as police judge, and fined $8 which he paid. He says that Cranor had not been legally appointed to serve in the stead of the regular judge and that therefore had not the right to fine him.

E. C. Outlaw sues the City Light company for $1,000 damages. Last February in turning a switch button at police headquarters Mr. Outlaw received such a charge of electricity that he was knocked down and rendered unconscious, and claims he was ill for two weeks. He charges that the accident was due to the carelessness and negligence of the company's employees in maintaining a transformer which permitted a current of dangerous voltage to come into their office.

Using Our Tobacco.

Reporting on the sales of American tobacco in Mexico, United States Consul Hanna, of Monterey, says: "All through northern Mexico the 'shuck cigarette' is the most popular among all classes. The 'filler' is tobacco imported from Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, and the wrapper is of ordinary huck. The annual consumption of these cigarettes, the fillers of which are entirely of American tobacco, amount to several hundred millions. It is estimated that a pound of tobacco will furnish fillers for 4,000 cigarettes, and that in the year 1905, 1,292,178 pounds of American tobacco were brought into Monterey, nearly all of which was used in their manufacture.

In the year 1906 the demand for this kind of tobacco had increased, and 1,539,885 pounds of it was imported into Monterey from the United States.

"Mexico stands next to Cuba in the manufacture of fine cigars, yet it will surprise many to know that the most popular cigarettes in the republic are made from American tobacco, and the demand therefore is steadily increasing, about seven carloads of such goods arriving in this city monthly.

Biliousness

That sallow, yellow look, those terrible headaches, that dulled brain; all these things spell biliousness, which is the direct result of a liver which fails to perform its functions in a natural way. Before you can destroy that bilious condition you must get your liver in form and nothing will accomplish this so quickly or so thoroughly as

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

This remedy is the most valuable one obtainable for all liver and kindred troubles, possessing properties which drive it directly to the affected parts. Better than pills, oils, salts and nauseous purgatives which aggravate conditions and leave the sufferer in worse condition than before.

Former afflicted ones, now well at strong, pay eloquent tribute to its efficacy and power.

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN can be obtained in both dollar and half dollar sizes from all druggists. Your money will be refunded if it does not benefit you.

Your postal card request will bring by return mail our new booklet, "DR. CALDWELL'S BOOK OF WONDERS," and free sample to those who have never tried this wonderful remedy. Write for it today.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under seal. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating pelvic catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nerve and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several brands of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

LOUISVILLE MAN

TURNED DOWN BY GRAND ARMY OF REPUBLIC.

"Out-in-State" Man Elected Commander—Get Revenge by Naming Negro Vice Commander.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 17.—In the election of officers in the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the "out-in-the-state" faction defeated the Louisville faction by electing Prof. LeVant Dodge, of Berea, commander. George H. Sehon was the Louisville candidate. The Louisville faction evened up by electing the Rev. E. P. Meyers, a negro, to the position of vice commander, but this was after more than 100 of the "out-in-the-state" bunch had left the hall because they believed the Louisville bunch was guilty of unfair methods. They came to this conclusion when the ballot box was opened after fifteen men had voted and twenty-two ballots were found in the box.

Prof. LeVant Dodge, who was elected commander, has been professor of Greek at Berea college for the past thirty-two years. In June he will retire on a pension of $1,000 a year, under the provisions of the Carnegie trust fund. He is 69 years old and will be the first professor in Kentucky to receive a pension from the Carnegie fund.

Lesson VIII.—Second Quarter,
For May 26, 1907.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. ii, 1-15—Memory Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text, Acts vii, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1907, by American Press Association.)

The Lord chooses men before they are born to do His will and oftentimes calls them by name long before their birth, as in the case of Josiah and Cyrus, who were named hundreds of years before birth and some of the things they would do specified (1 Kings xiii, 2; xlii, 10; Isa. xlv, 28; xlv, 1). Every simple minded believer rejoices to believe that he was chosen in Christ before the foundation of the world (Eph. i, 4), but he also believes that he was chosen to be holy and without blame before Him in love.

It is a wondrously comforting truth that God has a time for every event, and happy are all who contentedly leave their time in His hands (Acts xvii, 28; Ps. xxi, 13). In today's lesson we are introduced to Abram and Jacob of the tribe of Levi, the parents of Aaron and Miriam and Moses (Ex. vi, 20; Num. xxvi, 59), for the time was drawing near to deliver Israel, according to the Lord's promise to Abram (Gen. xv, 14), and He would have His man ready for the eventful time. Faith is not a feeling or emotion or thought or hope or desire, but a resting on the sure word of God; therefore we conclude from Heb. xi, 23, that God had been talking with these parents about this child, for, apart from a communication from God, there is no ground for faith. "Faith cometh by hearing the word of God" (Rom. x, 17).

So this child was hidden three months by his mother, in obedience to Him who so carefully hid Elijah that Ahab and his searchers could not find him. Then at an appointed time for the babe to be adopted by Pharaoh's daughter the mother is doubtless instructed to prepare the ark of bulrushes and place it in the flags by the river's brink, not knowing the outcome, but having faith in God that He would work out His plan in His own way. A study of the three arcs of Scripture, Noah's, Job's and Moses', in connection with the fact that each was prepared to preserve what was put in it and each made by divine direction, is most helpful.

Soon the daughter of Pharaoh and her maidens approach the river to bathe. The little ark is seen, brought to her, opened. The babe weeps; her heart is touched; she is sorry for the beautiful babe and its unknown mother. Miriam is at hand. "Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women that she may nurse the child for thee?" "Go." And the maid went and called the child's mother (verses 5-8).

Why do we not trust Him fully? Because we do not know Him. Perhaps Miriam did not hurry too fast away from the presence of the king's daughter, but a little later—well, did you ever see a young girl run when she had a good reason for running? And what did she find her mother doing? Possibly in prayer to the God of Israel or possibly expecting and looking for the return of Miriam. The child is out of breath, but can say "Come" as she takes her mother's hand and hurries her along, telling her what had happened as they hasten to the river.

Jochebed is face to face with Pharaoh's daughter, but I think she scarcely has eyes for royalty, only for her babe. But perhaps she fears to show too much interest just then. But listen: "Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages" (verse 9). Now the song wells up in her heart to be adopted by Pharaoh's daughter, perhaps till she reaches home or is at least far enough away from the king's daughter and her maids not to be overheard; then it may be that both Miriam and her mother started up, "Sing ye to the Lord, for He hath triumphed gloriously" (Ex. xv, 21), as Miriam did long years afterward.

Did any mother who reads these notes ever hear the Lord say to her, "Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages" (verse 9)? If not, it may have been because of ears that were not anointed, for if eating and drinking can be done to the glory of God (1 Cor. x, 31), how much more the training of children for Him! As to wages for love's service, we will find it even so (Rev. xxii, 12). How truly wonderful is our God and all His plan for His own!

Perhaps two or three years with his mother, growing dearer to her every day, and then she gives him up to the king's daughter to be her son, trusting the God of Israel to work out His eternal purpose and remembering His wonderful working when the babe was only three months old. Yet it was hard to give him up, and there were no doubt tears and heartache, and she did not know John iii, 16, for it had not come to pass. Think also of Hannah and her Samuel.

So Pharaoh's daughter took the little boy and nourished him for her own son. And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians and was mighty in words and deeds (Acts vii, 21, 22). His mother must have known something of this and probably was glad of her son's welfare, possibly hoping it might fit him for the deliverance of Israel, of which, I believe, she knew. Years pass, and now he is forty years old (Acts vii, 23) and thinks the time has come for him to act on behalf of his people, but he has much to learn in another school, a postgraduate course in God's special school.

Resolutions Adopted By Christian County Committee—10,000 Acres Pledged to the Association.

The meeting of the Christian county executive committee of the Planters Protective association which was held at the courthouse Monday, this being the regular monthly meeting of the committee, was one of the best and most enthusiastic which has been held in a long time. There was a good attendance of the committeemen, and in addition a number of town people were present and interested listeners to the proceedings. The committeemen from the various districts in the county reported affairs to be in a most satisfactory condition and before the meeting adjourned Chairman Radford announced that about 10,000 acres of tobacco were pledged in this county.

The members of the committee again put themselves on record in the strongest terms as being against the night riding and other lawlessness which has been perpetrated in some sections of this and other counties. The motion was put by R. C. Gray, seconded by W. A. Glass and unanimously adopted when put to vote, that every officer and member of the association should lend all aid in his power for the apprehension of the guilty parties and do everything possible to put a stop to this and any form of depredation.

Judge W. T. Fowler made a speech to the assemblage. He stated that he very much doubted whether speeches made for the association had really benefited the organization, and even if they had, the time had now come when all forms of begging outsiders to join the association should stop, and the matter explained to them as a business proposition and an invitation extended to come in, and if they still refuse to let them go their way and the association go theirs. He stated further that some farmers had come to his office and requested blank pledges for the purpose of joining, who stated that they were afraid to stay out of the organization, but to all such he had refused the pledges. Judge Fowler said the association wanted volunteers and not conscripts. He stated that in nearly every instance where he had approached a farmer and explained the results already attained by the association as a business proposition, the farmer so approached was convinced and joined the organization. He also said that the feeling between the city and the association was now much better than ever before and he felt sure the merchants and business men generally sympathized with the farmers in their fight against the trusts.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicine and body building health tonics. Negro Struck By Wagon Tongue, and Seriously Hurt.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

After running three squares, the team of horses hitched to the delivery wagon of the Crescent Milling company ran the wagon into a telephone pole on the corner of Eighth and Virginia streets just before and besides badly damaging the wagon caused injuries to Henry Pearson, colored, from which he may die.

The team was standing hitched back of the stable at the mill. In some way the horse to whose bridle the hitch rein was fastened slipped or broke the bridle and the animals at once dashed down Eighth street. Although there were a number of other vehicles and obstructions all along the route, they did not strike anything until they ran into the telephone pole on Virginia street. They struck the pole with such force that the far caused the big globe on the electric light hanging in the middle of the street, to fall.

It was here that Pearson was injured. He was either trying to stop the runaway or to get out of their way. He was struck by the tongue of the wagon or the animals themselves and hurled against the front of Wootton & Day's saloon and rendered unconscious and was carried to his home in a carriage. His injuries are regarded as very serious.

The wagon was splintered up considerably, especially in the front. The harness was badly torn and broken but the horses escaped with slight injuries.

BULLETINS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 18.—Judge Pryor of the criminal court today held that right of appeals lies from juvenile court to criminal court. Case will be appealed.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Mayor Schmitz has not resigned, but affairs are in the hands of seven who have promised in writing to do as they want him in city affairs.

COLUMBUS, O., May 18.—Dr. David Willis resigned from the committee on temperance in the Presbyterian general assembly now in session here, on account of the bitter fight over the report of the committee.

FULTON, Ky., May 18.—A Mobile & Ohio train was wrecked near Crockett, Tenn., and four passengers were seriously injured.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs. Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake. But remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

An old sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the impurities of the blood, and as long as this vital fluid remains in this impure, contaminated state the place will never heal. The application of salves, washes, powders, etc., may cause the spot to scab over, but a fresh outpouring of diseased matter from the blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, gradually growing worse and slowly affecting the entire health of the sufferer. There are many ways in which the blood becomes contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of sickness breeds disease germs in the system, the failure of the eliminative members to remove the refuse and waste matter of the body, the excessive use of mineral medicines in certain diseases, all infect the blood with morbid matter and germs which sooner or later is manifested by a sore that refuses to heal. Persons with inherited blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers. The taint may lie dormant during young, vigorous life, but when middle age is reached or passed and the natural energies begin to grow weaker, the tissues in some weak point break down and a chronic sore is formed and kept open by the constant drainage of impure matter from the blood. If the cause is not removed the sore will continue to grow worse by eating deeper into the flesh, festering, discharging, and slowly undermining the constitution. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down to the very bottom of the trouble, driving out the impurities and building up the entire circulation. When S. S. S. has removed the cause the blood becomes rich and healthy, the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, and soon the place is cured. Do not depend on external applications, which do not reach the blood, but begin the use of S. S. S. and remove of the cause, and then the sore must heal. Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 16.—In this sermon the preacher shows that we are not sufficiently appreciative of or thankful for the blessings we enjoy and that to make life sweeter and better we should bear these constantly in mind. The text is Ps. ciii, 2, "Forget not all his benefits."

Memory's grip is not always firm. Her pen is not necessarily a chisel. Her memorial tablets are not always cast in bronze or iron or steel. Her death marks are not imperishable to time. They crumble and decay like the bones and the flesh and the life they represent. Her thoughts are not always recorded upon the leaves of solid rock by the sharp pencil of the lightning. Her broad manuscripts are often like the sands of the seashore, washed clean at least once a day by the infowing tides. They are the blackboards in the schoolroom of a little child. The written words of the morning are obliterated by the teacher to make room for the arithmetic class and the figures of the afternoon. What we do and say today may be swallowed up in the great, deep, impenetrable abysses of oblivion of what we will do and say tomorrow.

Indeed, if I might use the illustration, memory has always seemed to me to be like a French battle. It is similar to a great walled in castle of chivalric times. It is filled with secret closets and secret rooms and secret subterranean passages. It has its treasure vaults, where are concealed the precious stones and the gold and the silver no one knows anything about. It has its cedar chests where the faded brides have hidden their wedding robes and where families hide their decomposed grinning skeletons, so that no one may find them, yet there memory stands a huge castle with her watchtowers and her moats and her drawbridges and her banquet halls and her ballrooms and her cellars and also with her secret chambers, about the contents of which even the owners themselves have forgotten.

Perhaps I can illustrate my thought even more simply than this. A very dear friend of mine is the owner of one of the most historic of Virginia mansions. Every one conversant with the history of Washington's commonwealth knows about Westover, the home of the famous Colonel William Byrd of James River. One day some few years ago my friend was making some repairs in his cellar. Suddenly the pick of the workman went through the wall. A large opening was made through the wall. Lights were brought. Then my friend entered and found a secret tunnel, which old Colonel Byrd had built, leading from his mansion down to the river bank, through which it necessary in times of danger he and his family could have escaped and fled by water to the coast or to England. Thus memory's castles have their secret halls and secret chambers and secret subterranean passages. We ourselves have built them. But after we have built them we have shut the secret doors which lead to them and have then forgotten their very existence. What we said and did as boys, where we went as young men, the warnings and advice we have received in the past, may be swallowed up in the great sea of forgetfulness. Memory held these in tight grip for a little while, but memory's viselike hold after a time grew less and less strong. Now they have slipped out of her hands. They will be lost to us forever unless some one opens up memory's secret chambers and says: "Brother, look in. Sister, here are your treasures."

Even David forgot. David in my text realizes how easy it is to forget. Especially by bitter experience he had learned how easy it was to forget the mercies and kindnesses with which God had surrounded him in his past life. No sooner had God rescued him from Saul's javelin than the shepherd boy fled to King Achish's court, thinking he would be safer with his country's enemies than with Saul. Hardly had God seated him firmly upon the Hebrew throne than David forgot all of God's mercies and care. He stayed at home from his country's wars. He made love to Bathsheba, another man's wife. He then murdered her husband. According to Nathan's parable, he killed the poor man's lamb. Ah, yes, David knew what it was in his prosperity to forget the love and the mercy and the protection of God. Today we find him opening the One Hundred and Third Psalm with practically these words, "O God, do not let me forget what you have done for me." He thus bids us study "gospel mnemonics," or the laws by which we shall be able to hold in tighter grip the remembrances of the benefits with which God surrounds our lives now, as he has done during our past years. "Bless the Lord, O my heart, and all that is within me, bless his holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits."

How is the psalmist's prayer to be answered in my life? First, by clearly and distinctly and emphatically getting an impression deep enough upon my mind and heart so that I can remember the benefits of what God has done for me and my dear ones. By clearly and distinctly grasping in the first place that God is good, and God is just, and God is gentle and kind and forgiving. By having my consciousness aroused so that the thoughts which are peopling the temple of my brain today, as gospel messengers may be recognized as individuals next week, next month, next year, as I go about my daily occupations. If God's blessings do not make a deep impression upon the mind and heart, then memory, even though strong, will have nothing to remember.

The Phonograph Method.
If I might use a familiar illustration, we must deal with the scrolls of memory as the phonograph maker or owner makes the records for his instruments. You have often seen him do it. He takes a round cylinder of wax. Then on the surface of this cylinder of wax he places a little needle. Then attached to this needle he has a huge trumpet. Then the orator or singer or the orchestra starts the waves of sound. These waves of sound surge into the open mouth of that trumpet and drive the needle into the revolving wax, and the impression is made. Then by these indentations the phonograph is able to send forth for you the songs of a Gaiety or a Melba, the strange instrument playing of a Theodore Thomas' orchestra, the oration of a Dequoy or a Bryan and the vociferous laughter of a happy child. The deeper the indentation upon the wax the louder the phonographic voice. The deeper the impressions which are made upon the mind and the heart, as a rule, the longer memory will hold these records and repeat them when wanted.

You must make the first impression deep or else you can have no vivid remembrance of a fact or thought. Why do I forget names? I asked a friend some time ago. "When I was young, I could remember about everything. I knew the history of all the leading men of this country. I never forgot a face. I rarely forgot a name. I must be growing old." "No," answered my friend, "you are not growing old in the sense that your brain is growing weaker. It is growing stronger all the time. The reason you do not remember certain people as you once did is that your mind is occupied with other matters. New people do not make the deep impressions upon you they used to do. You must have a strong mental impression made upon your brain or else there can be no memory." My friend was right. If you would remember what are the benefits of God's love you must first clearly and distinctly recognize them and have them impressed fully and deeply upon your hearts.

Deep Impressions.
Have we had any deep impressions of the divine love? Oh, thou scroll of memory, among thy records is there to be found the joy, the deep joy of the consciousness of sins forgiven? Can we find there any songs, any merry-makings, by which we, as returning prodigals, were welcomed back to the divine Father's home? Among thy records, did we ever read the promise of the Holy Scripture as covenants for us? Oh, the joys, the transcendent joys of the gospel! Have they made any impressions upon us? Diagoras of Rhodes was so overwrought with joy because his three sons were all crowned as victors in one day in the Olympic games that when these three sons brought to him their victorious palms he dropped dead into their arms. If joy for an earthly conquest could make such an impression upon Diagoras, have we had no deep impressions made upon our minds and hearts because Christ comes and freely offers to us the palms of his sacrifice? If you would remember the benefits of God's mercy you must first fully grasp and know what the birth and the death and the resurrection of Christ mean. You can fully grasp the atonement of Christ if you will only kneel as penitent sinners at his altars and plead for the divine gift of grace.

Just an Imitation.
But to have first impressions of God's love is not enough. An idiot can get a great impression upon the mind, and this mental impression will do him not little good. For many years there has been going up and down the world a strange genius. He goes by the name of "Blind Tom." He is a full blooded negro, as black as coal. He has a wonderful musical memory. He comes into the public auditorium with the peculiar smile of the mental incompetent upon his lips. Any musician in the audience who wishes to volunteer piano and play there the most difficult classical music. He can play any one of Beethoven's sonatas, or Liszt's rhapsodies, or Chopin's ballads, or Hummel's concertos. Then at once this ignorant black man, who cannot spell his own name, will sit down at the ivory keys and duplicate the same music. Then as soon as the rendition is over as a little child he will laugh and clap his hands and call: "Good for you, Blind Tom! Good for you! Good for you!" Then almost immediately he will forget what he has done and how he does it. Oh, yes, in order to have true "gospel mnemonics" you must have more than mere mental impressions. You must be able to combine your first impressions of God's love with the great mnemonic law of association of ideas. Then you will remember God's love, because like the links of a great chain that link is held by other links.

Then, too, you must have a central thought. Just as each constellation of the heavens revolves about some one center, and you cannot think of that center unless you think of the stars that compose that constellation, each thought by the law of the association of ideas brings up other thoughts which revolve about that thought. When I mention to you the name of your dead mother at once you picture all the scenes of your childhood. You see the old homestead. You hear the laughter of your brothers and sisters at play. You see yourself trudging away to the village school. You picture the family pew in church and the evening hour of family prayers. You think of her funeral and the lonesomeness of the house after she was gone. When I mention the name of your dead wife at once there comes before you the picture of the girl you courted and the marriage altar and of the first home you set up and of the first baby and of the struggle of young manhood. One name, seemingly an insignificant name, may marshal before your mind whole regiments, whole brigades, whole armies of incidents and facts. The law of association makes them one and all a cohesive entity. The old poet well expressed my idea by asking this question:

Why should at times a passing scent,
Just snuffed a moment on the breeze,
Its sensuous power so swiftly spent,
Come laden with more memories
Than the low hum of honeybees,
Or sound of old familiar strains,
Or rustling of the autumn grain,
Or voices of the whispering trees,
Or rumble of wheels or pattering rain?

On the fatal night when Abraham Lincoln was shot in Ford's theater a young man was seated by the side of a young lady. She was offering to him a little flower at the moment that John Wilkes Booth's pistol shot rang out. Though this young man lived to be an old man, yet so powerful was the law of the association of ideas that he never saw that kind of a flower which this young lady offered to him that night. He never forgot the rushing through his mind the awful scene of a dying president; of the young tragic actor limping across the stage; of the blanched faces of men and the fainting forms of women dropping under the horror of the tragedy. Thus, my brother, if you and I would remember the benefits which God has given to us, we must remember them by the law of the association of ideas.

Law of Association.
We must find these benefits everywhere. When you and I go to the dinner table we must see God's mercies there. We must look for him and find him. We must in our blessings say: "O Lord, as thou dost feed the birds of the air and clothe the lily of the field may we find thee feeding us today." When we, as pedestrians, go swinging down the street in perfect health may we say: "O Lord, thou didst heal the sick in olden times. We thank thee that thou hast done more for us. Thou hast kept us well that we may not know the pangs of physical suffering." When we come home at night after a hard day's work in the store to greet a dear wife or a little child may we say: "The Lord gave and the Lord gives to us our dear ones. We thank thee, Father, that thou hast not taken them away." If you would remember the benefits which God has placed on every side of us, then you must find God everywhere. By the law of the association of ideas you must see him in the smile of a baby cooling in the crib, in the coat that you wear upon your back, in the refreshing slumber of the past night. You must see him and feel him everywhere about you. What God takes away we miss. But when God blesses the present we often take for granted that God is not in the blessing and that God is nowhere around.

But "gospel mnemonics" imply more than mental absorption and the law of the association of ideas. In order to remember well a fact you must be able mentally to take that fact in. Oh, yes. But, more than that, you must be able to give out that fact. If the waters within a reservoir have no outlet and only inlets those waters become murky and brackish and muddy. But if the streams of knowledge which flow into the mind are allowed to flow out then those streams, instead of becoming stagnant pools, as mountain brooks will gurggle and splash, will leap and sparkle in glorious life.

All a Jumble.
It is by broader knowledge that the grip of the memory becomes stronger. You can illustrate this fact by your travels. When a young man with your parents you took a trip to Europe. You went from city to city and from capital to capital. You visited cathedrals and palaces and art galleries and ruined castles and famous homes without number. Every step seemed to you an enchantment. But when you returned home after a three months' journey what was the result? Your whole journey was a big jumble. You could not remember what you had seen or where and how you saw the sights you did remember. A few years later, however, you made a second trip to Europe. Then you went as a correspondent of a newspaper. You used to write weekly articles for your county paper. What was the result? You saw the same stones and spires and groves as you did before, but you saw these in a new light. In describing them for others you fixed those facts indelibly in your own mind. The reason Benjamin Franklin had such a marvelous memory and such wonderful clearness of thought and expression was due to one custom. From the time he was a young man he never read an important book, he never heard an important speech, he never listened to an important conversation but he always went home, took his pen and paper and made a clear and succinct abstract of the thoughts he wished to remember. Now, my friends, how can you and I by "gospel mnemonics" ever be able to hold clearly and distinctly in our minds and hearts the benefits which God has placed about us unless we are able to write them down and also are able by long practice to tell them to some one else?

But, though this fact is true, some people never think of telling their friends what God has done for them. They do not care whether any one else knows their divine blessings or not. If these same people have received an honorary degree from some college they have their diplomas framed and hung up in their studies, where every visitor can see them. If they belong to some secret order and are high up in the councils they always have the lodge's pictures or their badges in conspicuous places to let you know their positions. They seem to care but little whether you know the benefits they have received from God. The result is that as they do not talk about their divine blessings they are very apt to forget them. The weakest memory I ever knew belonged to a bookworm. He read about everything. He did nothing but read. But no sooner would he read than he would forget. If you would not forget the benefits with which God has surrounded you you must talk about them. Write them down in the letters which you send through the mails. Tell them to your friends and neighbors. Tell them if for no other purpose than that the Davidic prayer of my text may be answered in your life.

Gospel Mnemonics.
The theme, "gospel mnemonics," is suitable for all. How especially is it appropriate for the young! The older a man grows the harder it is for him to start as a new student in school or college. The grandfather has ten times, aye, fifty times, as hard work to learn how to read and to spell as has his ten-year-old grandson. The younger a boy the easier it is for him to count the gospel lessons and talk about the benefits of what God has done for him. Therefore, young man, I would advise you to matriculate now in God's great university, called his church. I would have you come at once as a student, because now learning the lessons of Christ will be to you such an easy task.

My boy, would you not like to start to learn the gospel language when you are young? Would you not sit at the feet of Christ and learn to think as Christ thought? Do you not see how much easier it is for you now to learn the Christ tongue instead of for the old sinner after speaking the language of sin for years to learn the language of Christ? We do not want to translate thought to express our thoughts.

I have spoken to the young, so I would speak one word in closing to the old. Sometimes a brainy man may have a blow upon the head which will for a time bar and bolt the chambers of memory and turn his mind into a dark cavern filled only with the bats and the owls and the vermin of a hopeless insanity. Sometimes by a blow of sinful temptation the thoughts of God and the benefits of Christ's atonement may be blotted out from some of us for a time. But thank God all losses of memory are not forever. O man! O woman! You who have been groping about in the darkness of sin, will you not today come back to your right senses? Will you not again see the divine and the loving and the forgiving face of your Saviour? Will you not remember again all that Christ has done for you? As he has forgiven your sins in the past, will you not feel and see that he is forgiving your sins now? [Copyright, 1917, by Louis Klopfel.]

FOR $10,000 DAMAGE

ADMINISTRATOR OF HAYS SEBREE
SUES RAILROAD.

Claims His Death was Due to Employees Carelessness.—Mrs. Major Asks for a Judgment.

D. E. Fowler, as administrator for Hays Sebree, has filed suit against the Louisville & Nashville railroad company for $10,000. He claims that as Sebree was crossing the defendant company's tracks at the regular crossing in Pembroke about 4 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 23, 1906, that a train, which was carelessly and negligently operated struck and caused injuries from which he died.

Mrs. Mollie S. Major prays for $505 damages from the Illinois Central railroad company. She alleges that the railroad company failed to construct adequate cattle guards and that cattle got into her field and damaged her crops to the amount of $305. She also alleges that the road-way on her farm leading to the river which was very necessary to her business, was rendered impassable by a trestle which the company built and that this has damaged her in the sum of $200.

FERGUSON IS NOMINATED FOR REELECTION AS COMMISSIONER

SOUTHALL AND LANDRUM THROW STRENGTH TO HIM AND A STAM-PEDE FOLLOWS.—DEMOCRATIC LOVE-FEAST IN THE RAILROAD DISTRICT CONVENTION.

On the nineteenth ballot Wednesday night, McD. Ferguson, the present railroad commissioner, was nominated for re-election by the First district Democratic convention at Henderson.

The vote was 228 to 152 for Finn, his nearest competitor, and 191 votes were necessary for nomination.

Southall and Landrum threw their strength to Ferguson, and there was a stampede, Gardner's votes also going to him.

If a rule to drop the hindmost man had prevailed, Southall, who made a gallant fight, would have had a good chance to win, but each county stuck doggedly to its candidate.

On motion of Finn, the nomination of Ferguson was made unanimous, and there was a regular Democratic love-feast.

(From Thursday's Daily)

Senator Edward W. Carmack, of Columbia, Tenn., has arrived in the city to speak at the May festival. He is a guest of Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Blakey.

Frank H. Bassett, who is studying medicine in Nashville, spent yesterday in the city. Mr. Bassett and his family will probably stay in Hopkinsville during the summer.

David G. Tandy, formerly a popular resident of this city, and who recently has been making his home in Tennessee, has returned to Hopkinsville with a view to reentering business.

The Kentucky Laundrymen's association in session at Lexington this week elected T. L. Metcalf, of this city, a member of the executive committee. W. A. Patterson, of Newport, was elected president, and Geo. P. Deuser, of Louisville, secretary.

Among the Hopkinsville delegation at the Henderson railroad commissioner's convention were the following:

H. C. Moore, Dr. J. B. Jackson, E. H. Higgins, E. H. Hester, D. D. Cayce, A. J. Cayce, Jas. West, L. H. Davis, Jno. Chilton, Wm. Childs, Joe Twyman, Hunter Wood Jr., R. J. Ward, J. J. Metcalf, J. C. Duffy, J. T. Hanbury, Frank Rives, Boyd Harris, J. C. Buckner, Crit Anderson, Douglass Bell.

The following item of local interest appears in a Sewanee despatch to Nashville American:

"After a hotly contested election for officers of the senior class, 1907 medical department, University of the South, Joseph Gant Galtier, of Hopkinsville, Ky., was elected president; Jack Richard McMichael, of Buena Vista, Ga., vice president; Grafton Burke, of Dallas, Texas, secretary; and William Wesley Lightfoot, of Durant Miss., treasurer. While spirited the election was good natured in the end. The contestants for the presidency were all men of excellent class standing, having taken all their courses at Sewanee, and had a large following among the third seniors."

Hugh J. McCarroll, a native of this country, is attaining fine success in Bullard, Texas, where he now resides. The Citizens' bank, a private institution with $250,000 responsibility, has been recently launched there and Mr. McCarroll given the position of cashier. His many friends here will be glad to know of his good fortune.

Mrs. Max Levin and her bright and talented thirteen-year-old daughter, Miss Mamie Lee Oldham, of Guthrie, are in the city attending the May Musical festival. Miss Oldham is the composer of a "Twilight Dreams," an instrumental piano selection. The composition is on sale at Cook & Higgins' drug store.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Wheatcroft and their son, of Wheatcroft, Ky., are in the city attending the May Music festival. They arrived in the "The Kentucky," the private car of Mr. Wheatcroft, who is president of the Kentucky Valley railroad. The guests on the car are Miss Helene D. Clark, of New Orleans, sister of Mrs. Wheatcroft, and Misses Ora and Emma Lee Baker, daughters of F. M. Baker, of Dixon, Ky. Mr. Wheatcroft is the railroad builder whom the people of Henderson, Dixon, Madisonville and Dawson Springs have been trying for some time to interest in the construction of the long talked of road between Hopkinsville and Henderson, and it is thought that his visit here may have some significance in regard to this matter.

FOR STOMACH SUFFERERS.

Mi-o-na is the one remedy for stomach troubles that publishes its formula: chemically pure bismuth subgallate, to allay any inflammation of the stomach and bowels; cerium oxalate, to strengthen the stomach nerves; sodium bicarbonate, to neutralize the poisonous acids that are present in stomach trouble; and nuxvomica, which restores vigor to the digestive organs and tones up the whole nervous system.

This combination of valuable remedies is found only in Mi-o-na stomach tablets, and it so rarely fails to strengthen the digestive system, and cure even the worst form of stomach trouble, that L. L. Elgin sells the remedy under guarantee to refund the money unless it cures.

SERIOUS CRIMES

CHARGED AGAINST A TENNES-SEE PROFESSOR.

Said to Have Ruined a Girl and Then Attempted to Poison
Her.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., May 19.—Prof. A. C. Ellis was arrested in Cumberland City by City Marshal C. C. Crockerall and Deputy Sheriff Sid Crisp, on a charge of seduction alleged to have been committed at Clinton, Ky., several months ago, and on a charge of attempted murder committed more recently, both charges being preferred by Miss May Berry.

Prof. Ellis has been in Clinton, and Miss Berry, who is 18 years old, was a student in his school. Her condition is said to have been such that her shame would have been exposed, and it is said he had made several attempts to produce an abortion on her. He returned to this place, and Miss Berry, in her desperation, wrote him, threatening to expose his crimes if he did not do something to protect her. Ellis is said to have mailed her a small vial of medicine and sent therewith a letter telling her to take it. Both fell into the hands of a relative of the young lady, who had the drug analyzed and found it to be a deadly poison, the tenth part of which she was instructed to take being sufficient to produce death.

Dr. William Berry, an uncle of the young lady came here and located Ellis at the Cumberland City Academy, where he was visiting a sister. His arrest followed, and he was sent to Union City, where he will be held until requisition papers for his removal to Kentucky are honored.

Ellis was born and reared in Stewart county, and prior to his trouble bore a good reputation.

LOSES A PLANT BED

WOMAN WAS MADE TO POINT IT OUT

Ben Hollins, who is in the city today, reports the destruction Saturday night of a plantbed of 290 yards on his place. The bed was about one mile from his residence, and belonged to an old colored man by the name of Dudley. Arriving at the latter's house they compelled his wife to go with them to distinguish his beds from the association beds in the vicinity. When they arrived at the bed they requested her to walk over the bed and stamp it, fearing dynamite. After being satisfied in this respect, the party, consisting of about twelve or fifteen men, proceeded to pull up the plants and demolish them in other ways. After the work of destruction was completed they returned with the old woman to the house, where the husband was found, whom they compelled to go with them halfway to Guthrie, and then ordered him to return home. It is claimed that two of the party were recognized, and have always been regarded as men of fine standing in their community. Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle.

The Court of Appeals Hands Down a Decision In The Louisville Election Cases.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 22.—The court of appeals, by Judge Lansing, today declared the Louisville election void on account of fraud, force and conspiracy. Appointments to vacancies will be made by the governor.

Today's Courier-Journal states that the six sitting judges of the court of appeals have voted, four to two, to reverse the decision of Judges Kirby and Miller, of the Jefferson circuit court, in the contest of the Fusionists to oust the Democratic officeholders of the city of Louisville and Jefferson county, who were declared to have been elected in the election of 1905.

The appellate judges voting to set aside the election of 1905 are Lansing, O'Rear, Barker and Settle. The judges voting to affirm the decision of Judges Miller and Kirby are Hopson and Nunn.

The two dissenting judges, Hopson and Nunn, will not hand down a dissenting opinion.

The decision will remove Mayor Barth and other city officers, twelve aldermen and twenty-four councilmen. In addition, all the Democratic county officers except the circuit judges and magistrates are turned out. The Democrats have thirty days to move for a rehearing. The question as to whether Gov. Beckham has the right to fill the vacancies by appointment, or whether the former administration returns to office until an election is held, may be adjudicated in the courts.

WALKER-MORRISON.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Walker today announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Will Morrison, of Nashville. The wedding will be quietly solemnized on the afternoon of June 19, at the home of the bride's parents in the Highlands on East Seventh street. Immediately after the ceremony the couple will leave on an extensive bridal tour.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.
"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., (Incorporated,) the leading Drug store 9th and Main Hopkinsville.

THE BIG

Main Street Grocery!

Thirty Thousand Pounds Standard Granulated Sugar, 25,000 Pounds of Side Bacon, 1,000 Barrels of Patent Flour, 800 Cases of Standard Tomatoes, 500 Cases of Standard Corn.

We have just received a solid car load of Standard Granulated Sugar, which we believe to be the first car of sugar that has ever been received by any grocery firm in this city. We bought this sugar before the big advance in sugar and can save you money. We also purchased the above amount of side bacon, and there has been a sharp advance in the same. Well, we struck it lucky on hand, and have quite a large amount on hand; in fact, it advanced far more than our expectations, we have the price.

Canned Goods!

We can say, without contradiction, that we have sold more canned goods in the past year than we ever sold in any ten years previous. We thought that we would have to ship out of the city the most of our canned goods, but at the prices we have made on them, and the scarcity of other vegetables, we have been selling all of them to home trade. Call and get our prices.

We sold three car loads of potatoes this season and handled several car loads of apples. We have clearly demonstrated that by buying goods in large quantities, that Hopkinsville can be made headquarters for the grocery trade of western Kentucky. We want your business. Polite and courteous salesmen; prompt attention to our orders, we are not asking the full market price for any of the above goods but are satisfied with a small profit. Twenty years of experience in catering to the wants of the people of Christian county certainly stands for something. Fresh Vegetables. Well, we were the first to start a regular market house, handling everything that the people wanted to eat, in and out of season. Watch Us Grow! Help Us Grow! It will be to your benefit. We want to buy anything to eat you have to sell.
